

Sinclair uses the public airwaves free of charge, and is obligated by law to serve the public interest. Airing a documentary that represents only one side so close to the election in an election that is a dead heat, is an obvious attempt to influence the outcome of the election. If ever there was a time for the FCC to act it is now. If Sinclair airs this documentary, they should be required to give equal time to the Kerry campaign.